THE SUN RISES AND SHINES AGAIN ON OUR NEIGHBORHOOD!!

Some of us remember the Warren Forest Sun from 1967 when the Trans-Love tribe used to put it out. John Sinclair, Pun Plamondon, Gary Grimshaw and all those crazy brothers and sisters used to live around here.

That was one helluva paper- a perfect union of culture, art, and politics.

As great as it was, a lot of people in the area probably didn't dig it or see how it related to their daily struggle for survival. Any poor family could righteously wonder what the visions and dreams of a band of crazed "hippies" had to do with them.

THREE years later - BLACK PEOPLE and WHITE PEOPLE, "FREAKS" and "SQUARES" see each other with such fear and distrust that it blinds us to the one overwhelming fact in ALL OF OUR LIVES!!

poverty racism, and that monster called URBAN RENEWAL threaten us ALL

All of us are lost in this concrete jungle. We can only find our way out together.

Y'know what happened to those first SUN staffers? John Sinclair is in prison for 9½ to 10 years. Pun Plamondon is on the FBI's ten most-wanted list. The Trans-Love tribe are White Panthers.

They have seen the need to struggle for the freedom of everyone. They have learned, as we are all learning, that "doing your own thing" is no solution to oppression. They know that you cannot "give peace a chance" in a society that demands war- racist war- to support its insane economy. They are being hounded, arrested, beaten and ridiculed as we all are, for demanding peace and freedom: FREEDOM FIRST!!

Those are some right on hippies.

There is no room for division in a neighborhood where we are all jammed up in this insane heat and dirt. If this paper is to be a help, it needs help, from all of us. We need help- from ALL OF US.

JUSTICE!

Judge Julius Hoffman [upon request to subpoena John Sinclair during the Chicago CONSPIRACY Trial]:
"I don't think a judge in this building or a judge in Michigan would sentence a man to 9½ years in prison for possessing two sticks of marijuana."

Leonard Weinglass [CONSPIRACY defense lawyer]:
"Your shock is shared by the defense and a good portion of the country."

"One week before I was sentenced to 9½-10 years for possession of two marijuana cigarettes, Judge Robert Colombo, the Recorder's Court magistrate who sentenced me on July 28, 1969, gave another man 7 to 10 years for second degree murder.

"I am a political prisoner, presently being held WITHOUT BOND, in Marquette Prison. I am serving 9½-10 years not for possessing two joints of marijuana in the privacy of my own home, but for "flaunting the law," as Judge Colombo put it."

*-John Sinclair, writing from prison,
July 4, Independence Day, 1970.*

Was John Sinclair "flaunting the law," or was he just speaking out against its injustices? It took two disguised undercover agents two months to entrap John into giving them two marijuana cigarettes. No charge. He gave them the marijuana, and the judge himself ruled that the transaction was a case of "Illegal Entrapment," i.e. that the police created the crime! The same evidence, which had been obtained illegally by the Judge's own ruling, was then used to convict Sinclair on the possession charge. Who was flaunting the law?

If you feel as we do, that John should never have been jailed, and if you also feel the shock and outrage that we do to realize that it has been almost a year since his sentence began and nothing has been done, and you would like to help please attend the first meeting of the Committee to Free John Sinclair.

THE MEETING WILL BE HELD AT THE UNITARIAN CHURCH-CASS AND FORREST AT 8p.m. ON MONDAY JULY 13th. THE FIRST ACTION OF THIS COMMITTEE WILL BE TO SET UP A WEEK OF ACTIVITIES, STARTING WITH A JUSTICE/FAST ON JULY 28th. ALSO THERE WILL BE A FEAST AND BENEFIT AT THE END OF THE FAST. THE FOLLOWING IS A LIST OF COMMITTEES THAT ARE OPEN FOR ANYONE TO PARTICIPATE IN:

1. Committee to work on distribution of leaflets and petitions.
2. Committee to work on soliciting funds.
3. Committee to man a permanent office for the use of our organization.
4. Committee to work on organizing the benefit and feast.
5. Committee to work on food for the feast.

AMERICA HAS A 400 YEAR HISTORY OF VIOLENCE.

For millions of years it stayed untouched, but then the white man came to plunder, moving across the continent from east to west nearly wiping out a race of red people. In the process they set up cities under a death-system called capitalism, bringing in hundreds of thousands of black people from Africa as slaves.

TODAY IN AMERICA, there exists a group of capitalists who represent one per cent of the population, and control the planet with their paid lackeys.

In North America, the industrial center of the world, the U.S. imperialist war machine exploits the people to make and use weapons of war to enslave the world.

There remains only one way left to defend the little freedom we have left, our life style, and the struggle against the murdering and jailing of our brothers and sisters throughout the world; ARMED SELF-DEFENSE.

We all should have learned by now that these pigs won't let us be free, we must free ourselves. Political power grows out of the barrel of a gun.

ROCK & ROLL CONSPIRACY

One night in the fall of 1968, while Jack Forrest was sleeping, the CIA office in Ann Arbor was blown up. The local pigs saw this as the perfect time to get Jack and two other prominent White Panther leaders, so John Sinclair, Pun Plamandon and Jack were all charged with conspiracy to bomb. Now, in June of 1970, John is in prison for ten years for possession of two joints, Pun is on the FBI's "11" most wanted list and Jack is in Detroit, awaiting a trial that could see him imprisoned for a total of 30 years. In order to help Jack meet the ever-increasing costs of the legal self-defense necessary, the STP coalition is sponsoring a benefit for him at the Palladium, in Birmingham, on July 21st

The benefit will be held from 4-12p.m. with Jesse Crawford hosting the last four hours of the show. Commander Cody a killer country-rock band, from Ann Arbor will be head-lining the set, with the possibility, at this writing of the MC5 and the Stooges. Word is out that THE BIG "D", that mythical monster from KNR will be there doing the "funky chicken" on stage at the Palladium. Don't miss it. Donation is $3, or whatever you can afford, noone will be turned away for lack of money. Power To The People, See You There

Joe Booker, Chairman,
Detroit White Panthers

To defend ourselves we must "orgicate". That is organize and educate ourselves and others to the realities of self-defense. Give Peace A Chance? Fuck It!

On the surface, many of us have options available, we don't have to participate in a radical movement, take risks, get busted, jailed or murdered because we, especially whites, can back off and not feel the oppression.

But in the long run, this is impossible. If we don't defend our life-style and culture, it's straight back to the death-culture.

Those around the world who are engaged in armed struggle against imperialism will grow and rise victorious. The power of the people is stronger than the U.S. War Machine.

If we can educate ourselves to the struggle of revolutionary peoples all over the world, we will know their fight to be our fight.

For those who think that they have time to sit back and do nothing, a warning: It is already too late. Armed struggle is our only answer.

It is very important that all political people know the value of medical care and know first aid. In order to win the struggle we're going to have to be in good physical shape, and be able to maintain our health. This is what complete first-aid is. In the following issues we will cover medical care, nutrition, and everything we can think of to help our community and our struggle.

Our police commissioner Murphy "the gasman" as he was called back in New York is well known for his fanatic use of gas (tear gas, blister gas, mace) to control the people.

GAS AND MACE

There are five kinds of chemical riot control agents currently (July 1969) being used. These are CN tear gas, CS tear gas, Nausea gas, Blister gas and Mace. Police and national guard units use canisters that blow up in your hand when you try to pick them up as well as conventional canisters. Gas masks, rubber or improvised with wet 4 x 4 gauze and a surgical scrub mask or handkerchief are protection against all gas except nausea gas. Do not rub your eyes after being gassed or maced or wash with soap as this can cause further irritation. See below under individual gas listings.

CS (strong) and CN (weak) gas are forms of tear gas. The gas comes in various canisters, in plastic grenades, in pepper fog machines, and can be sprayed from helicopters and cars. They are potent tear gas agents which cause nausea and burning. High concentrations have caused death. Treatment:

1. IRRIGATE EYES using water squeezed from cotton balls everyone should be carrying. Clean the eyes with over-the-counter eye drops.
2. GET THE GAS OFF YOUR SKIN by wiping with mineral oil which should be in your first aid kit (this breaks the gas down) or flood the skin with alcohol to set up an evaporation process to cool the skin. Remove all clothes which are saturated with the gas.

BLISTER GAS comes in a powder and is thrown in crowds after they have been hosed down with water. It causes second degree burns to the skin as well as burns to the lungs. Protective clothing and gas masks can reduce blistering to a minimum. Treat blisters as second degree burns as detailed in any first aid manual.

MACE is not a gas. It is a liquid and is propelled from a spray can. The NY police are developing a mace grenade which could be used like CS gas. Mace contains CN gas and kerosene plus a propellant, usually freon which is inert. Mace can cause severe eye pain and blindness as well as difficulty breathing. Goggles for the eyes will protect you and vaseline can be put on the skin if you remember that Mace dissolves in vaseline and therefore after macing you must wipe the vaseline off immediately. The vaseline will protect your skin from mace burns, but if you don't wipe it off, you will be burned more severely than if you didn't use the vaseline at all. Irrigate the eyes with water or dilute boric acid solution. Add a drop of Opthane (local eye anesthetic) and patch for one hour. If pain or blurred vision persist, see an eye doctor.

NAUSEA GAS has been dispensed only in canisters to date. When it lands, the canister lets off a small puff of smoke and then . . . nothing. It looks like a dud but it's highly dangerous since the gas is clear, odorless and colorless. It causes intense vomiting which can tear the lining of the stomach and instant diarrhea which can cause rectal bleeding. It upsets your judgement and can cause asthma to become worse. Gas masks are dangerous in this one situation as the gas is absorbed in the skin and if you vomit you can choke on your own puke. The only thing to do is run like hell in the opposite direction.

BLEEDING AND SHOCK

Most bloody injuries appear worse than they are. Bleeding can almost always be stopped by firm direct pressure over the bleeding site for 10 minutes. In order to calm the injured and thus help prevent shock, enlist his aid in his own care if possible. Have him hold a compress over his bleeding site or direct others to do so. Firm, positive action can relieve anxiety which contributes to shock. Shock occurs when there isn't enough blood in the body to fill all the blood vessels and thus not enough blood gets to the brain. The body compensates for this by increasing the heart rate, closing off blood vessels to the skin resulting in clammy cold skin, and changes in consciousness. Thus shock is manifest by fast heart rate (more than 100 per minute), cold pale skin, and changes in consciousness (nervous or even unconscious). Shock can occur after any serious injury and must be checked immediately as it can lead to death. Confidence in the person giving aid and keeping the injured warm are ways to avoid shock. If shock is due to blood loss, routine measures will be ineffective and the injured needs intravenous replacement-blood or plasma. In cases of severe bleeding where arteries in the arm or leg are cut and you cannot stop the bleeding by direct pressure, a tourniquet may be necessary. Tie a belt or handkerchief tightly above the bleeding site. Keep tightening the tourniquet until the bleeding stops. Do not loosen the tourniquet as previously taught, as further blood loss and shock will occur. You must pack the arm or leg in ice and have 6 hours to get the injured person to a movement doctor or hospital before irreparable damage (gangrene or loss of limb) occurs.

LACERATIONS AND BRUISES

Painful blows to the arms and legs are best treated by ice packs, rest and elevation of the injured extremity. Obviously bleeding must be stopped first. Blood in the urine after a blow to the back or the side suggests a kidney injury and medical evaluation is indicated. A rib fracture can occur after a strong blow to the chest and may cause painful breathing or coughing up blood. Chest x-rays may be necessary to evaluate these injuries. A strong blow to the chest or abdomen can cause internal injuries. Suggestive signs of serious internal injury include:

1. Persistent abdominal pain
2. Nausea and/or shock
2. Nausea and/or vomiting
3. Pain in either shoulder
4. Signs of shock

Should any of these signs occur, prompt medical attention is necessary.

Underground Is Protecting Young Radical from FBI

BY WILLIAM SCHMIDT
and HOWARD KOHN
Free Press Staff Writers

For 55 days, Pun Plamondon has survived as one of the 10 men who carry the FBI label: "Most Wanted."

If he and the FBI behave typically, he'll lose his title in about 2½ months. On the average, it takes the FBI 133 days from the time they designate a criminal suspect "Most Wanted" until they catch him, and they want Pun Plamondon very, very badly.

He is out there somewhere, probably not as wild-looking and conspicuous as he was last year, probably not as willing to take chances, but otherwise probably unchanged.

For Pun Plamondon—small-town high school dropout and would-be state-smasher—is a young man with a cause and a young man unique in the 20-year history of the FBI's 10 Most Wanted List.

He is accused of bombing the Ann Arbor office of the Central Intelligence Agency. He is the first modern-day revolutionary to make the FBI's select circle.

THE HUNT for him, which began in Ann Arbor last Oct. 7 when he was charged, involves all 55 continental FBI offices, including a four-man team of agents operating in Chicago.

They are a formidable crew of investigators, but what they are trying to do isn't easy. For to find Plamondon, they have to crack what many agents believe to be a well-developed American revolutionary underground, a resistance force.

It protects its own, and Lawrence Robert Plamondon, born in Traverse City on April 27, 1945, eyes brown, complexion pallid, race Caucasian, nationality American, is indeed one of its own.

Undetected yet by FBI men, Plamondon is able to stay in contact with the world outside, working through trusted intermediaries. He answers questions, and he talks about himself and his life like this:

"I'm just a fish in water. I just stay with the people, live with the people. 'All the cops are criminals and all the sinners saints,' you know. As far as telling you about changing my appearance or using different names or anything, I'm certainly not going to tell you that because there's no need to."

Some FBI men figure Plamondon has left the country, or should, if he wants to remain free. He says he is here, "in the underground."

"It's quite well developed now. It's getting more and more developed as more people go underground. It definitely is not just young people exclusively. It calls on all classes and all strata of people. And people are coming from all walks of life to help those who are underground.

"I'm underground. The Weathermen are underground. Draft dodgers and deserters are underground. And there are lots of groups we never even knew existed that are underground. It's developing rapidly."

FBI Still Hunts

WHITE PANTHER LEADER

State Radical

BELIEVED 'UNDERGROUND'

in Ann Arbor Bombing Case

IF IT IS, FBI men admit they haven't had much luck cracking through to find Plamondon via informers. "This connotes to me that he isn't moving," says Charles Bates of the Chicago FBI bureau. "I think he's holed up someplace."

Detroit FBI agent Tom Nally disagrees with Bates. He says he believes the revolutionary underground is sufficiently organized and coordinated to give Plamondon some freedom of movement.

Nonetheless, today he is the beneficiary of a national protection campaign, partly because the FBI has chosen to give him a label that traditionally has been carried by men accused of murder, robbery, kidnapping, counterfeiting and rape.

NO ONE—including FBI director J. Edgar Hoover, who wouldn't comment on the case—will talk specifically about why Plamondon is among the most wanted, but Thomas Bishop, one of Hoover's top assistants, said the major criterion for putting suspected criminals on the list is "their potential threat to the security of the nation."

"Just look at Plamondon's record," Bishop says. "You'll see why he was picked."

The record is this:

Plamondon is charged with conspiracy and with destroying government property in the Sept. 29, 1968, bombing of the Ann Arbor CIA office.

He has been arrested numerous times since 1962 on such charges as leaving the scene of an accident, assault and battery, drunk and disorderly, resisting arrest, vagrancy, violation of narcotics laws, distributing obscene and lewd material to minors, indecent exposure and possession of narcotics.

There are still several charges outstanding against Plamondon—most of them involving drugs—in several states. He has jumped bond from New Jersey, Illinois and Michigan.

His only convictions to date are the traffic charge and the drunk and disorderly count.

He is minister of defense of the White Panther Party, a communal group of young hippies turned political activists under the one-time leadership of Michigan revolutionary guru John Sinclair, now serving a long prison term for marijuana violations.

SINCLAIR and another White Panther, Detroit's Jack Forrest, were charged with Plamondon in the conspiracy indictment. Plamondon alone was accused of the actual bombing. David Valler, now in Jackson Prison on a drugs conviction, was named as a co-conspirator but not a co-defendant, suggesting that it was his Federal grand jury testimony which linked Plamondon, Sinclair and Forrest to the bombing.

Plamondon has offered to turn himself in if the conspiracy charges are dropped against all three. He is willing, he says, to stand trial on the charge of destroying government property.

"The whole conspiracy case is totally fabricated, as all conspiracy charges are and must be by definition. Because there's no concrete evidence they can offer, nothing to hold up in front of the people as evidence that something happened.

"It's truly just a '1984' thought crime, you know, what's going on in your head. So, just on principle, I'll never willingly stand trial for that charge."

PLAMONDON claims total innocence—though he endorses violence as a tool of his revolution—and contends that he is being used by the FBI.

"I think the FBI is just trying to build up its image. They take somebody off the street and print up a bunch of posters of him and tell the people he's crazy and dangerous and wants to kill somebody's mama or something. Then they try to capture this cat and put it up to the people that they're the saviors of all mankind because they got this guy off the set."

Some of Plamondon's friends complain that the FBI is overstepping its legal bounds and is using his case more to find out about White Panther activities than to find out about Plamondon.

In 1965, he enrolled in night classes at Traverse City Senior High School. He attended few classes, and did not graduate.

HE BEGAN union organizing among cherry pickers around Traverse City. He caught the attention of United Auto Workers officials, and the UAW paid his way through a 13-week business course at Michigan State University.

In 1966, he met Sinclair and with him formed the White Panther Party. That was the same year he met his future wife, Genie Johnson, 23, known by the White Panthers as "The Prez" because she is a Johnson from Texas. She married Plamondon in 1968.

It was at the Ann Arbor White Panther Party commune last October that the Plamondons learned on the radio of Pun's federal grand jury indictment.

Before he could be arrested, he was gone.

Shortly after he went underground, he claims, he was picked up twice by police on suspicion of possessing marijuana and an unregistered gun but was released before police discovered who he was.

After he had been hiding for some time, Genie Plamondon was able to slip out from under FBI surveillance and join her husband for several weeks.

"She was with me for about a month and a half," he says. "She was carrying on her party work as I was, as I am now. But she had to go back to the party because there was work she had to do there."

Genie Plamondon recently traveled to the Soviet Union and North Vietnam aboveground as White Panther minister of communication. She publicly denies having seen her husband because she could be charged with aiding a fugitive if she acknowledged contact with him.

"A revolutionary's life is for the people," her husband says. "That's the only thing you live for. You don't have a personal life."

"Our marriage isn't in any sort of jeopardy. It isn't the way we want it ideally, of course. But I definitely feel she or anybody can live underground. She has and she will live with me again if the situation demands it."

PLAMONDON himself says he has been in and out of the country since the FBI began its search, visiting Europe and Africa, and meeting with Black Panther fugitive Eldridge Cleaver in Algiers.

"I have thought about going to Hanoi or Cuba to get political asylum. I was in Algiers... and could have asked for political asylum there. But my job is here. This is where I have to be. This is where we have to make revolution. We just can't stand on the sidelines any more and endorse revolutions in other countries... Revolution starts at home, just like charity."

His tactics? "I look on trashing (political vandalism), rock-throwing and bottle-throwing as a pulse, away of feeling the energy and determination and outrage of people. Revolution is not a spontaneous thing. It takes many steps and many stages and many years, and it takes diligent work on the part of professional revolutionaries."

How do you justify bombing? he is asked.

"I don't have to justify nothing. Because it's just there. History has shown that bombing plays a very elementary role in any sort of revolution. I think it's very commendable for the people who have carried ried out bombings that they have not injured any innocent people...

"These revolutionary people doing these bombings have shown they really do love people, that they don't want to hurt people, and that they're doing this all for the people..."

"If they drop those conspiracy charges I would stand trial for the bombing—because we can prove our innocence in that very easily."
